Date	Location
July 15	The Monaco Hotel Seattle, Washington

Register today for the only Section 106 Seminar taught by the Federal agency responsible for administering the National Historic Preservation Act's Section 106 review process

<http://www.achp.gov/106advanced.html>

The Advanced Section 106 Seminar focuses on the effective management of complex or controversial undertakings that require compliance with Section 106 of the National Historic Preservation Act. Taught in a small, interactive setting, this seminar encourages group discussion and problem solving. Designed for experienced Section 106 users, the seminar focuses on the challenges of seeking consensus and solving adverse effects to historic properties.

Taught by the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation Staff who are engaged both on a daily basis and have practical hands-on experience with Section 106 issues. Reid Nelson will be teaching the Seattle course. Reid is the Director of the Office of Federal Agency Programs at the ACHP. He came to the ACHP with extensive experience in historic preservation after working with the Navajo Nation in its Archaeology and Historic Preservation Departments for 18 years, the last nine of which were as a program manager for the Navajo Nation Historic Preservation Department.

What will you learn in The Advanced Section 106 Seminar?

- How to effectively achieve win-win outcomes and resolve disputes;
- How to identify creative ways to address conflicts between development plans and preservation values;
- and How to negotiate and prepare agreement documents under Section 106.

Who should attend? Environmental and cultural resources personnel who have previously attended the ACHP's Section 106 Essentials Course or have received similar introduction to Section 106, and/or who have experience handling Section 106 issues.

For more information and registration, go to our website at <http://www.achp.gov/106advanced.html> or contact Cindy Bienvenue at cbienvenue@achp.gov.

We have a great training course planned and look forward to seeing you there!
